Report of the 2009 Trip to China

– Grace Li, President, Chinese Philanthropy Global Partnership

How is the Sichuan 5.12 earthquake area rebuilding going? Have people moved into new houses, are students having classes in new, safe school buildings? How is our donation being used to help people in the earthquake areas? Are people's lives going back to normal?

With all those questions in mind, Grace Li, President of Chinese Philanthropy Global Partnership Inc., visited the Sichuan Earthquake areas in October 2009. She visited 5 schools in Dujiangyan 都江堰, Mianzhu 绵竹 and Zhongjiang County 中江县 locations where 1 + 1 Heart to Heart project and Bashu Strength Foundation sponsored recovery projects. At Mianzhu, she visited 4 new schools - built by "sister" cities from China's east coast. Each school has a heart to heart classroom sponsored by 1 + 1 project. Those classrooms are decorated colorful and inviting, equipped with computers, camera, books and games. 1+1 Heart to Heart project provided training for those schools – each school has a trained teacher with counseling skills and disaster relief knowledge. Our donation has been used to sponsor training sessions in Beijing University in 2008. Now those teachers are organizing support group activities, individual counseling and family assistance to children and youth in the earthquake area schools. Most of the teachers are willing to work longer hours to help students and their families during off class times.

2 schools Grace visited are still in old locations, waiting to move into new buildings. Buildings of Sichuan Technology and Business College were damaged during the earthquake and students are taking classes in temporary classrooms, administration offices have been in portable buildings inserted into the 2nd floor of the damaged building. The new school construction, sponsored by city of Shanghai, will be ready to move in next fall.

In Zhongjiang County, there are 160 new schools under construction; all with special design of earthquake resistant codes. Grace visited one of the new school sites in the mountain area. Better roads need be built before the construction materials can be delivered to the new site. Bashu Foundation sponsored 2 million CNY for this school, 50,000 CNY has been used as scholarships to 165 students. The school principle showed documents and pictures of the scholarship program. Beneficiaries will receive scholarship for 3 years.

Grace also visited a community center which provides group support to mothers who lost children during the earthquake. The project was initiated by a volunteer, a psychology professor in HeBei province who stayed in the earthquake areas for more than a year. He worked very hard to help those mothers to rebuild hope and life. He has advocates for grass root organizations and innovative projects in earthquake areas to be funded.

Before going to the Sichuan earthquake areas, Grace visited Chinese Charity Federation, met President BaoJun Fan, 1&1 Heart to Heart Project Director Junying Zhang, International Exchange Center Director Guiling Ma, Bashu Foundation vice Chair of Board Ms. Hong Xu and other officers in Beijing. She also met with Mr. Yongguang Xu, China's famous charity leader and other professionals to learn new developments in China Charity Sector. She was invited to give a presentation about Charitable Giving in US to graduate students in Beijing Normal University, College of Public Management.

From the site visit, Grace believes that the two soft projects selected by CPhGP board and our major donors are in great need and effective. Our donation has been used wisely and accountable. People appreciate overseas donors for our caring and generosity. Buildings in earthquake areas may be completed in 2-3 years. Local economics and rebuilding people's lives back to normal will be longer, may take 10 years. Continuing supports is needed. Some of the good projects initiated during the 5.12 earthquake in S Sichuan could be extended to other areas in China such as dedicated advisors in school. How to match funding resources to service providers in the community level is a challenge to China's Charity system.

There are many success stories concerning the 5.12 earthquake disaster relief effort in China. 2008 is a year with a great leap in Chinese Charitable Giving history. Chinese Philanthropy Global Partnership Inc. is proud of our overseas donors and the volunteers, collaboration among Chinese government officers at every level, Chinese Army and Chinese Charitable organizations. Best Wishes to the great development and reform in China's Charity Sectors.
